A Question of Citizenship. The new French law on nationality has some features of special interest to some, and of general interest to all, Americans. It declares that they are natural-born Frenchmen whose fathers 2101 Main street. were French at the time of their birth whether born in France or abroad. Under this law France would claim as hers a son born in this country of a French father, a claim which the United States will never allow. We believe that this has always been the French law, but the impression is that its re-enactment now means that the law is to be enforced.

Another provision applies to foreigners residing in France. If not naturalized within five years they may be expelled from the country. Numbers of in this country of French fathers, she will do well to go slowly. We Americans have some views of our own on thi subject.

With few exceptions the saloon-keep Ex-senator Ross, who stuck by President Johnson during his impeachment, is now working as a printer in a Santa Fe newspaper office.

The Countess of Roseberry recently unveiled a memorial to Charles Dibdin, the author of many English sea songs. Hitherto his grave was unmarked.

Abgalam Lincoln was the fellow been ers of Cincinnati formally resolved that they would run their business on Sundays in spite of the law. They defied the officers of the law and, with the willing assistance of their numerous retainers, actually came near breeding Abraham Lincoln was the tallest President in this country, being 6 feet 4 inches. Benjamin Harrison is the shortest, as his height is only 5 feet 5 inches.

But the law was clear and its minister were not afraid to enforce it. The Chief were not a fraid to enforce it. The Chief of Police took hold with a firm hand. Sam Jones, the revivalist, spurned an office of $5,000 a year to preach in Minneapolis. He replied: "Do you take me for a tool, I'm getting $25,000 a year to preach in Minneapolis. He replied: "Do you take me for a tool, I'm getting $25,000 a year now."

The court wisely gives the reformed lions a chance to see how they can get along as lambs.

It is often said that the Sunday law cannot be enforced in a large city, especially in a large city having a large foreign-born population. Cincinnati is a superior of spokane Falls. Older cities than spokane Falls have to have their fineers with a full control of the author of the homestead law, has no been at all for a cigarette. THE NEW EMPIRE

The Sunday law can peared being published as the other two volumes. Alexander Graham Bell is spending the summer on the coast of Nova Scotia on board an immense catamaran. Since the extirpation of the gregarious bison no animals, beyond a few beavers, are found in the area, although the grass is luxuriant in its growth, and plenty of water is found there, both inviting herbivorous animals to its retreat. If all things work well, however, within ninety days the lowing of the kine and the whinny of the horse of the new settlers will be heard, and their sharp teeth will have consumed the rich grass before the September frost comes to nip it. These 11,000,000 acres will alford farms for not less then 70,000 families, and judging from the settlement of Oklahoma it will require infinitely less than seventy days valleys are of wonderful fertility. After the unchallenged testimony with regard to Maybrick's habitual use of arsenic; after undeniable proof that Mrs. Maybrick used arsenic for her complexion; after the contradictory testimony of experts with regard to the cause of Maybrick's death, the verdict of guilty is a surprise.

If we could get on the inside of each one of those-jurors we should find that there were not more acres to be parcelled out. So far as reports of the trial have reached this country, Mrs. Maybrick's guilt on the charge of murder has by no means been established. Yet she is condemned to death.

New York and the World's Fair.

It takes money to make a big show go, and the New York Herald thinks it has found a way to get the money. It suggests the issue of stock shares of ten dolars each, so that everybody may get some of them. "Ten or fifteen million dollars can be easily and quickly raised in this way," says the Herald.

If the money were to be put in gold mines with the flaming promise of carly and fabilious returns, perhaps it would be "easily and quickly raised in this way." We doubt whether New York is equal to the task of raising money easily and which a suffering from a sovere attack of inflation. way." We doubt whether New York is equal to the task of raising money easily and quickly for any public enterprise by appealing to its people. To succeed in such an undertaking there must be local pride and public spirit to appeal to, and in these New York has shown herself to be woefally lacking.

If the rich men of New York do not go down in their wailets, and if her business men who would profit by the big show do not follow the example, the World's Fair of 1802 will not be held in New York.

Contract Labor.

Trinity church has had to pay $1,000 for bringing over under contract an assistant paster. It is beyond question that the law never contemplated this application. It is quite as clear that the contract with the glassworkers brought over to Jeannette is just within the strict spirit of the law.

If the contract labor law senses has been legislating on this 11,000,000 tract since 1882. The Winnebago portion of it President Arthur ordered to be opened, believing the Indians had no right to it. President Clearleant thought differently, and rescinded the order of his predecessor.

If the contract labor law cannot prevent such contracts as this, it is worth nothing. It is true that home labor was inadequate, but this does not touch the primary fact that the men were brought into the country under contract for their labor, and this is what the country desires to stop.

It would be odd if the first enforcement of the law in harmony with its real spirit were to be against these Jeannette men, for they were invited to come by a labor organization which stands as firmly as any other by organized labor in America. The affair would seem all the more peculiar since the invitation came from Knights of Labor.
